Kathleen de la Pena McCook is one of the most prolific scholars in librarianship. Chicago Public Library librarians Craig Davis and Janette Kopacz have selected two of her articles on the role of public libraries for discussion with the author. Before coming to this program please read one or both of these articles:

If you can only read one article, please read this one:

"Cultural Heritage Institutions and Community Building" Kathleen de la Pena McCook and Maria A. Jones Reference & User Services Quarterly, Summer 2002

If you have time to read a second article, please read:

"Public Policy as a Factor Influencing Adult Lifelong Learning, Adult Literacy and Public Libraries" Kathleen de la Pena McCook and Peggy Barber Reference & User Services Quarterly, Fall 2002

Building the Community of Readers:
Reader Advisory Service for Non-Fiction Readers

A discussion of non-fiction reading and models for providing reader advisory services to non-fiction readers featuring:

Kathleen de la Pena McCook

University of South Florida Distinguished University Professor

2003 Chicago Public Library Scholar in Residence

Thursday, May 22, 2003

2:00 – 5:00 PM

Chicago Authors Room (seventh floor)

Harold Washington Library Center

400 South State Street

Kathleen de la Pena McCook teaches adult services and reader advisory services at the University of South Florida School of Library and Information Science. She is the author of two significant works in this area:

Developing Readers' Advisory Service: Concepts and Commitments (with Gary O. Rolstad). New York: Neal-Schuman, 1993.

Adult Services: An Enduring Focus for Public Libraries (with Danny P. Wallace). Chicago: American Library Association, 1990.

Her current service as a member of the American Library Association Reference and User Services Association Notable Books Committee has peaked her long-standing interest in non-fiction. She is currently working on an article on reader advisory services to non-fiction readers.

Come share your ideas and resources as we consider such questions as:

Is a reader advisory interview for non-fiction readers and different from an interview for fiction readers?

How do you develop your knowledge of non-fiction for reader advisory work?

What are the best resources to assist you in non-fiction reader advisory services?

Registration Fee for Guests: $25.00 to help defray lunch and bus costs

To register, please fill out the registration form.

Share ideas and information on serving ethnically and racially diverse communities with colleagues from northern Illinois Chicago libraries and the Chicago Public Library at two Information Fairs.

Hear a talk on library service to diverse communities by:

Kathleen de la Pena McCook
University of South Florida Distinguished University Professor
2002 Latino Librarian of the Year
author of A PLACE AT THE TABLE: Participating in Community Building
2003 Chicago Public Library Scholar in Residence.

Hear northern Illinois and Chicago Public Library colleagues give "how we do it" snapshot talks on library service to diverse communities.

Tour four Chicago Public Library branches serving diverse communities:

- Rudy Lozano Branch Library in the predominately Mexican-American Pilson area
- Chinatown Branch Library
- Near North Branch Library serving both the Gold Coast and CHA's Cabrini Green
- Legler Branch Library on the west side serving a primarily African- American community.

Enjoy a Soul Food Lunch with from Ernie's Restaurant at the Legler Branch Library and a reception at the Harold Washington Library Center.

Here's how the day will be organized:

- We'll start off at the Harold Washington Library Center with registration and an Information Fair from 8:30 to 9:00 AM. The Information Fair will feature northern Illinois and Chicago library services to diverse communities including library service to Russian, Polish and Korean speakers whose communities we will not visit on the branch tour.

- At 9:00 AM we'll gather for remarks by Kathleen de la Pena McCook, Chicago Public Library Commissioner Mary A. Dempsey, and other local library leaders.
- Next we'll break for coffee, goodies and conversation and a continuation of the Information Fair.
- Promptly at 10:45 AM we'll take off in two comfortable air-conditioned buses to tour Chicago Public Library branches. You'll have an opportunity to examine collections and talk about outreach, programming and services with staff at each location.
- Around 1:00 PM we'll all rendezvous at the Legler Branch Library for a delicious Soul Food lunch served by Ernie's Restaurant. There will be plenty for vegetarians as well as meat lovers.
- We'll again tour Chicago Public Library branches from 2:00 to 4:00 PM.
- Around 4:00 PM we'll return to the Harold Washington Library Center for a reception and continuation of the Information Fair from 4:00 to 5:00 PM.
