

Dr Phan
University of Bristol
Department of Physics
University of South Florida
4202 East Fowler Avenue
PHY 114, Tampa
Florida 33620-5700
USA

April 2008

Dear Dr Phan,

In 2007, Journal of Physics D: Applied Physics (J.Phys.D) has gone from strength to strength. One reason for this is our high quality referees. You have been one of the most productive of our referees in the past year, and we would like to thank you.

We are therefore delighted to send you a J.Phys.D 1GB memory stick as a small token of our appreciation for your efforts on our behalf in the past year. We have uploaded several articles from the journal, that we hope you will find useful. Many more articles can be found on the journal website (www.iop.org/journals/jphysd).

Did you know?

- J.Phys.D has an exceptionally fast peer review and publication time – the average receipt to first decision time is just 49 days!
- The impact factor has increased in the last 5 years and is currently 2.077
- All articles are free to read for 30 days from online publication, indexed by Google and searchable using CrossRef
- Over 700,000 downloads in 2007!

We would be very happy to welcome your next contribution to the journal. You can find out all about the journal at www.iop.org/journals/jphysd and submit your article via our online form at <http://authors.iop.org>.

Many thanks again for your support and we look forward to working with you in the future.

With best wishes,

Adam Day
Publishing Editor
adam.day@iop.org

Lesley Fifield
Publishing Editor
lesley.fifield@iop.org